

Jacob Bangsgaard

Director of International Relations

Jacob Bangsgaard is Director of International Relations at the FIA Foundation and responsible for activities in the field of eSafety and Intelligent Transport Systems (ITS). He is based in the FIA Foundation office in Brussels where he has lived for 18 years working in the transport sector for private companies and the European Community. He came to the Foundation in 2006 from a post as Director of International Affairs in ERTICO – ITS Europe where he was responsible for activities in Asia, Latin America and Eastern Europe. Before ERTICO he was responsible for an intermodal transport task force in the European Commission. Before that he was heading the Brussels office of a Danish transport consultancy. Jacob has a degree in macro economics from Aalborg University.

